SERVICES

WE ARE HERE TO HELP

The Sexual Violence Support & Prevention Office (SVSPO) offers confidential support, advice and referrals to SFU and FIC community members, including students, staff and faculty, who have been impacted by sexual violence.

The SVSPO is a welcoming place where you can access support without judgment or assumptions. We work from a survivor-centered perspective, using an empowerment and trauma-informed approach that considers your individual situation and perspective.

We provide coordinated access to SFU, FIC and off-campus services to create a response that fits your unique needs and minimizes retelling your experiences.

We also provide outreach and education services. To learn more about sexual violence prevention and intervention, visit sfu.ca/sexual-violence/education-prevention

SUPPORT IS...

- available regardless of when or where the incident(s) took place.
- available through regular drop-in hours and by appointment.
- available anonymously through virtual drop-ins.
- provided at all campus locations. An appointment can be arranged at the Vancouver, Surrey, or Burnaby campus or an alternate location of your choice.
